Lecture Synopsis -

Seventh Annual St. Thomas More Forum Lecture

It is commonplace to regard the powers of public officials as held on trust for the public. What does this mean?

To what extent is it a statement about morality and to what extent is it a statement about the law?

Our system of administrative justice enables courts to police the limits of official powers. There are other mechanisms of “accountability”. Important as they all are, their importance is outweighed by a moral commitment to public service.
